Traffic related fatalities are down in Kentucky

The year-end traffic fatality count for Kentucky in 2013 was one of the lowest in recent history.

Although 639 people lost their lives on our roadways last year, it was the fewest number of deaths our state has experienced since 1947. This reduction is even more amazing when you look at the increased number of vehicles on our roadways and the number of miles driven each year. Amazingly, over twenty-one billion vehicle miles were driven through the Commonwealth last year. There are numerous reasons for the drastic reduction in traffic deaths in Kentucky:

• First and foremost is the increased usage in vehicle restraints. In 1995, vehicle occupants in Kentucky were wearing their seat belts about 54% of the time as compared to a usage rate of nearly 85% in 2013. Combined with advancements in shoulder restraint devices, this has significantly increased the survivability rate for those involved in a crash. Nearly half of the people

Harper, former graduate, named new Wildcats varsity soccer coach

By Sam McClanahan, Reporter

There will be a new face leading the boys varsity soccer program later this year. Aaron Harper, graduate of Pendleton County High School in 1995 and lifelong resident of the county has been named the new head coach of the Wildcats.

Harper brings over 10 years of coaching experience, and has worked in all levels of youth league soccer. He currently coaches a U-13 club program in Wilder, but is eager to get his first taste of coaching at the high school level.

"When I saw that the position had become available I jumped at the chance to apply," said Harper.

"I had a very positive interview with Athletic Director Keith Smith as well as Assistant Principal Chad Simms.

"We went over the details of the job and also discussed coaching philosophy. I was excited to be selected and look forward to taking over a program that has been very successful over the years."

Harper has had a close eye on the team in recent years. His son, Aven Harper, graduated in 2013 as arguably the most talented player to ever come through the program. Harper himself was a four-year player under Tony Bentley during the mid-90s.

Last week, Harper had his first meeting with the Wildcats team he will take over and came away impressed with the eagerness shown by the players to get the offseason conditioning regimen underway.

"Many of the kids were excited. It's the opportunity for something new and a new approach. A few of them asked questions about my coaching philosophy and style, and how soon we could get started lifting weights and conditioning," he said.

Harper describes his style of play as being very possession-oriented, with an emphasis on controlling the ball and attacking the net at the opportune times. He likes his players to be creative while spreading the field and avoiding crowding the middle. He says he looks forward to working with each player individually to fine-tune their skill set while also watching them mold together into one smooth-running unit.

AARON HARPER

"I want to know each player on a personal level. I believe that part of being a good coach is being an educator and also a mentor." Harper explained "I love coaching kids both on and off the field."

Harper anticipates having the team on the field as soon as the weather allows him to do so. He plans to run a few small scrimmages to get a feel for his team and to evaluate the roster.

"I'm excited to get the players on the field and get to work on the upcoming season. The PCHS soccer program has had a lot of success over the years and I plan to work hard in making sure that the tradition continues while I am head coach," expressed Harper.

Senator Stine listens to testimony from Bellevue Police Chief Wayne Turner on Northern Kentucky's growing heroin problem.

Senate passes legislation addressing Kentucky's growing heroin problem

SB 5 addresses problem with a three-pronged approach

The Senate today passed SB 5 to address Kentucky's growing heroin problem using a three-pronged approach - treatment, education and intervention.

According to a 2012 report by the Office of Drug Control Policy, there were 1,004 overdose deaths in Kentucky. This included an increase of 650 percent in heroin deaths over 2011. In 2013, an even greater increase is expected

"We must do everything we can to get the traffickers out of Kentucky, get treatment for addicts and educate Kentuckians, especially our youth, about the hazards of drug abuse, especially heroin," said Senate President Pro Tem Katie Stine, sponsor of the bill. "We must lock up the dealers and treat them like the violent offenders that they are, and provide treatment services for the addicts who have broken the law, but who have created a prison for themselves worse than anything that we could build,"

"I applaud Sen. Stine for all the hard work and dedication she has put into this legislation," said Senate President Robert Stivers. "This is a great example of what our General Assembly is capable of doing when we work together to solve a problem that plagues our entire Commonwealth."

Senate Bill 5 brings Kentucky consistent with current federal law by increasing penalties to high-volume traffickers and facilitates charging traffickers with homicide in instances where there is an overdose death.

The bill also requires the Kentucky Medicaid Program to cover substance abuse treatment programs for those seeking treatment. Savings from HB463, previous criminal code reform, would be directed to the Kentucky Agency for Substance Abuse Policy to fund treatment and educational programs.

Other provisions in SB5 include:

• Training for law enforcement on heroin overdose recognition, interdiction and treatment.

• Allowing physicians to prescribe Naloxone to first responders and the killed in Kentucky are not seat belted which validates national research that you are fifty percent more likely to survive a crash if you are properly restrained in your vehicle.

• Child Safety seat usage by parents has increased significantly because of statutory requirements and increased education by law enforcement and health care professionals. Nearly 98% of the children under 40 inches in height we see riding in a vehicle today are in a federally approved child safety seat. Although we desperately need a new booster seat law governing olderchildren, we have seen a drastic reduction in child deaths because of child safety seats.

• Because of increased enforcement, stronger statutes, and better community awareness, our impaired driving fatality rate has been nearly cut in half over the past two decades. The overall number of crashes involving an impaired driver has been reduced nearly 25% in the past fifteen years.

• The teenage crash rate has also plummeted thanks to educational/training programs like the mandatory Graduated Licensing Program, "Alive at 25" and the "Drive To Stay Alive" program hosted by the Kentucky State Police each year.

• Vehicles today are safer than they have ever been. Various safety advancements coupled with a better 'crush factor' give motorists a higher chance of survival by 'riding down' the crash versus coming to an abrupt stop.

• Improved highway engineering and the addition of crossover barriers on interstates have contributed greatly to the number of survivors who make it home after a crash that otherwise would have been a head-on collision.

Despite the recent reductions, there is much left to do. Although we have seen a significant drop in fatalities involving a drunken driver, there still were 148 people who lost their lives because of these irresponsible criminals. Although our seatbelt usage rate continues to climb, statistics show that the night time usage rate amongst 21-35 year olds are extremely low. What can be done to make our roads safer.

• First and foremost is to make sure that EVERYONE in your vehicle is properly restrained...every trip…every time.

• Drive defensively and always obey the posted speed limits.

• Drive sober or make plans to designate a sober driver well before you go out for the evening. For more information, go to our website and sign up to "HERO" in our designated driver campaign.

• Report an impaired or erratic driver to our toll free number, 1-800-222-5555.

• Avoid unnecessary and dangerous distractions like texting. Twenty percent of ALL crashes that take place in the Commonwealth are attributed to a distracted driver.

As we enter into 2014, the Kentucky State Police and our partners continue efforts to reduce traffic fatalities. However, history has shown us that the goal of zero deaths in our state is impossible without the help and cooperation of our motoring citizens.

families of addicts to help prevent overdose deaths.

• Requiring the coroner or medical examiner to notify the Commonwealth's Attorney of any overdose death caused by the use of a Schedule 1 drug. This reporting helps facilitate homicide prosecution of the dealer.

• Allowing for limited immunity for Good Samaritans who seek medical care for persons overdosing.

The bill now goes to the House of Representatives for consideration.

SOCIETY

William Luckett and Elizabeth Fogal were married on January 22, 1824 in Pendleton County.

MR. AND MRS. HARRY S. KYLE JR.

Kyles celebrate 70th wedding anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Harry S. Kyle Jr. celebrated their 70th wedding anniversary on January 7, 2014. To honor this very special occasion, a celebration was held at the Butler United Methodist Church on Sunday, January 12. Over eighty family members and friends came to congratulate them and wish them well. Everyone enjoyed eating food, taking pictures, sharing memories, and just spending time together.

Harry and Bernice, who are also known as "Pops" and "Granny Bird" have lived in Pendleton County since 1956. They have four children, Jimmy (Carol), Cheryl Baker (Gary), Paula Wright (Donnie), and Mark (Nancy). They have also been blessed with 15 grandchildren and 33 great-grandchildren. They are expecting another great-grandchild and also their first great-great-grandchild this spring.

Harry's sister, Betty Klump, and Bernice's cousin, E.J. Schabell, who were their witnesses on their wedding day, were also able to attend the party making their day even more special.

There was lots of applause and picture taking as the anniversary couple cut their 70th wedding anniversary cake. It was a very wonderful afternoon!

Littleton's poem reminds us that winter is not forever

Writing poetry has always been one of Sabra Littleton's passions. Sabra was 89 years old on January 11, 2014. She has always taken pleasure in the little things and spent many hours keeping journals of her life, her blessings (once she wrote a list of 80 things she was thankful for), and her poetry. Perhaps this poem she wrote in July of 1997 will help remind us that winter is not forever and warm summer days are soon to come.

My Mocking Bird

By Sabra Marie Littleton

I sat there on my porch
I was lonely as could be
Then, there came a mocking bird
It sang its song to me

It sat there on the wind vane
It had wits, twas plan to see
It rose into the air
And did a trick for me

I thought it was so lovely
I lifted my head up high
And saw some other wonders
As I gazed into the sky

The sun was shining around me
There was a gentle breeze
The shade was cool and lovely
And so were all the trees.

My love was there beside me
We laughed and talked so free
Our mocking bird kept chirping
And making happy sounds

Who could be lonesome
With mocking birds around.

Sabra still resides at her home in Bracken County with her husband Glen, where they have enjoyed 73 years of marriage.

KSP fifth grade student poster contest targets missing children

The Kentucky State Police (KSP) is calling all fifth grade students to compete in the National Missing Children's Day Poster Contest sponsored by the Department of Justice (DOJ) in Washington, DC. KSP will select one nominee from Kentucky to participate in the national level competition. The Kentucky nominee will receive an Award of Excellence from KSP and their poster will be prominently displayed at the Kentucky State Fair in KSP's Safety Town Exhibit.

Using the theme "Bringing Our Missing Children Home," the contest highlights America's united goal to bring missing children home safety. It provides teachers and parents with tools to educate children about safety and the prevention of child abductions.

The winner of the national contest will be determined in late April and will receive a U.S. Savings Bond and a free trip to Washington, DC to participate in the National Missing Children's Day ceremony, to be held on or around May 21, 2014. The ceremony will be a time to recognize people who work to bring missing children home safety and remember the children who remain missing.

Kentucky fifth graders can enter the contest by submitting their posters to KSP Headquarters. KSP must receive entries by February 18, 2014 for consideration. A judging panel will choose a state winner and their entry will be forwarded to DOJ where the national winner will be selected.

Kentucky entries and completed applications should be mailed to:

Kentucky State Police Headquarters, c/o Public Affairs Branch, 919 Versailles Road, Frankfort, KY 40601.

Book review of "Born Country"

No doubt anyone drawn to the music of the group Alabama will want to read "Born Country: How Faith, Family, and Music Brought Me Home" by Randy Owen with Allen Bucker. Early in the book the author makes it clear that "This is my own story and my own version of the larger story of Alabama that was my musical life since I was a teenager. When I say this or that happened in the history of Alabama, that's my impressions or recollection and mine only."

Most folks consider Alabama a "country group" (this reviewer recognizes many genres of music in their songs) and many proclaim them to be the most popular continuous musical group of the past 50 years. This book is actually a biography of Randy Owen from his early days in Ft. Payne, Alabama to national recognition as lead singer and main spokesman of Alabama. The author recounts many interesting accounts (war stories) of the formation of Alabama with his two cousins till the group reached national stardom and beyond.

Early in the book the author makes this statement - "Until the two inspirational albums were released, Alabama rarely sang about God - but trust me - God was present at every concert." This reviewer would suggest that this stated principle was one of the main reasons for the success and esprit de corps of the three cousins who comprised Alabama, and added to their long lasting appeal.

This reviewer found "Born Country" an easy and entertaining read. The 275 pages flew by very quickly. To find out more about Randy Owen and life with Alabama stop by the Pendleton Co. Public Library and check out a copy of "Born Country."

Back Yonder

"Getting Stuck"

Most of us at one time or another have gotten into situations that were next to impossible to escape. I remember one of these predicaments.

My childhood was filled with many, of what I consider, exciting events. To the modern day youngster, these events would be simple and even boring, but to us even a trip to the country store or the Falmouth Livestock Auction was a thrill in itself.

As a child, we very seldom got to go anywhere just for the sake of going. All travel had a purpose and sightseeing was not a part. If we got as far north as Grants Lick, in Campbell County, or as far south as Antioch, in Harrison County, we actually felt as if we had left the Commonwealth.

Even today I can almost count on my fingers the trips I made out of Pendleton County before I reached the age of thirteen: there was the 4-H trip to Coney Island, where we traveled there by cattle truck and crossed the Ohio River on a ferry boat; the eighth grade picnic to the Cincinnati Zoo; and the trip to the theater in Cincinnati to see the movie "The Seven Wonders of the World." We relished these special occasions and they made a lasting impression on our personalities.

Today our youth travel farther and see more before they reach the age of twelve, than have most of our 80-year-old senior citizens in their lifetimes. However, these young people fail to realize and absorb the beauty of these opportunities.

I was talking to a man who had taken his wife and teenage sons to see the Grand Canyon last summer on a vacation. The man had not traveled much in his life and was very enthused at how happy and excited the teenagers would be when they viewed this "Wonder of the World." He was quite disappointed and frustrated when he heard one of the boy's responses on viewing the canyon: "I thought it would be bigger," and the other boy's comment, "What is there to do now?"

I suppose that it just takes more to excite this new generation. I must get back on the subject and reveal my memory.

One of the most "looked forward to" trips we had as youngsters during the 1950s was to go to Falmouth with our parents to the Pendleton Food Bank, or Locker where the frozen meats were kept in a rented room filled with locked compartments. This was before every home had a deep freeze for their foods. The trip was especially rewarding if it could be made on a hot day in July or August. A youngster could tag along while the parent was getting the meat and really cool off. I prized, not only the trip to Falmouth, but more so the unique feature of roaming in the zero degree room, when it was 95 degrees on the outside.

I don't know why, but there is something mysterious about a person which causes him to do stupid things such as: wanting to touch a freshly painted area to see if the paint is dry, even though there is a sign that says "fresh paint;" the urge to write initials in wet cement, even though you know you shouldn't; the urge to slide down one of the mountains of sand in a rock quarry, even though you know it is dangerous; and, yes, that urge to stick your tongue on the side of a frosty ice cube tray.

On this particular hot August day while roaming in the frigid locker room, I was overcome with an urge to stick my tongue against the frozen metal. I was temporarily overcome and the temptation was too great. I committed the act.

On the first contact my tongue remained in place just as if Super Glue had been applied. I was "STUCK." I let out a loud, forlorn moan, that could be heard even outside the locker room. People started coming to my rescue, but were puzzled on what action to take.

Some suggested getting some hot water. Others thought the Fire Department should be called. Before a final decision was reached, my older brother grabbed me around my waist and gave a hefty pull.

For a brief second, my tongue stretched like a rubber band, and I could have auditioned for the rock group, "KISS," whose fame was enhanced by their long tongues.

I was separated from the frozen locker without serious injury, even though a little piece of hide remained on one of the locker doors. Even to this day, I have never again had the urge to stick my tongue to frozen surfaces.

Stupefying our Youth

I do not like Bill O' Reilly of Fox News. I find him to be arrogant and egotistical. He interrupts guests on his program. And he brags about the books he has written.

But I find myself agreeing with many of the points he makes. His books on Killing Lincoln, Kennedy, and Jesus are the most powerful histories I have ever read. And, a recent Factor program provided some of the material for this column. To be sure, he is conservative, but he backs up his point of view with an arsenal of facts. Finally, I think he is the most powerful voice in America for common-sense morality!

O' Reilly said that we are dumbing down and creating antisocial behavior among our youth with pot, video games and texting. Research shows some strong linkages between video games and those who perpetrate mass killings, like they may be living out their fantasies. Also, a recent cartoon in a newspaper showed a family sitting down for Thanksgiving dinner and each sibling was deep in his or her I-phones, oblivious to the adults at the table. Much more could be said about these two trends in American society, but due to time and space, the remainder of this column will consider the pot phenomenon.

Most fair-minded persons agree that pot has some medicinal value and could and should be prescribed by a medical doctor for certain illnesses…but under strictly controlled circumstances…... But legalized and sold at the corner drugstore???..... O'Reilly and I agree that if pot is legalized as in Colorado and Washington, there will be an upsurge of teenagers who will have access to it and some will become habitual users.

What happens when one uses pot? Pain is lessened. Memory becomes cloudy. A sense of pleasure ensues. Conscience is blurred. Depression is fogged. In short, the senses are dulled! And if an all night party, one is hardly more than a blubbering zombie. Some research has indicated that the IQ's of youth show a decline proportionate to the amount and frequency of marijuana use.

When I was Dean of Students at Lees College in Jackson, Kentucky in 1979-80, I had taken a firm stand against the use of pot in our dormitories. We had four to five who were smoking it; obvious because of the strong odor that ensued from their rooms. A tell tale sign was a candle sitting in a slightly opened window. I warned them that should they continue, I was going to take action against them. All of them during the year either flunked out or were dismissed for other reasons. The point: pot smokers frequently fall short of their potential.

Another writer in the January 9th issue of the Tampa Tribune said, "One certain result of this legalization of marijuana is that there are going to be more potheads, more dropouts, and more deaths on highways from those high or stoned…and more rehab centers …the costs will be borne by society and the families of future victims of potheads behind the wheel. Marijuana is the gateway drug, the escalator drug to cocaine and heroin…and if marijuana sales bring in the revenue Colorado envisions, other states will follow suit… and some state will be the first to decriminalize cocaine."

Are we in the USA getting better and better, or are we sliding toward an abyss or worse?

State Representative Tom McKee files for re-election to 78th House District

State Representative Tom McKee (D-Cynthiana) has announced he is filing for reelection to House District #78. Rep. McKee represents Harrison, Pendleton, Robertson and portions of Campbell County. His new district for election purposes will include Harrison, Pendleton and portions of Scott County including Georgetown. He is pictured with Kentucky Secretary of State Alison Lundergan Grimes.

State Representative Tom McKee, one of the state's top farm leaders as chairman of the House of Representatives' Agriculture and Small Business Committee, has filed for another two-year term serving the 78th House District, he recently announced.

"It has truly been an honor representing the people of our district in the General Assembly, and I hope I can continue being their voice for the next two years," said Rep. McKee, D-Cynthiana. "I've been proud to play a leading role on a number of issues important to our area and all of the state, including the landmark law that dedicated the state's portion of the national tobacco settlement to agriculture, early childhood development and helping our sickest Kentuckians obtain health insurance. More recently, I sponsored the legislation that calls on our state parks to use more Kentucky-grown agricultural products and that makes it easier for farmers to donate excess produce to our charitable food banks. In 2012, I sponsored the law that will create a permanent memorial for those Kentuckians who have lost their lives serving our country in Iraq, Afghanistan and the surrounding area."

In addition to chairing the House Agriculture and Small Business Committee, he also belongs to several other legislative committees: Local Government; Tourism Development & Energy; the Tobacco Settlement Agreement Fund Oversight Committee; and the Tobacco Task Force. He also serves on the Budget Review Subcommittee on General Government, Finance & Public Protection.

Through the budgetary process, Rep. McKee has secured tens of millions of dollars for roads, bridges, justice centers and schools for the 78th District.

Rep. McKee is a prior chair of the General Assembly's Energy Committee, which looks for ways that Kentucky can boost our country's energy independence; and he has been a staunch advocate for education and business development.

Over the years, Rep. McKee has been recognized by a variety of groups for his work, with the most recent coming from Kentucky Farm Bureau - which in December gave him the organization's prestigious Service to Agriculture award - and the Extension Family and Consumer Sciences programs, which made Rep. McKee an honorary member.

For the upcoming election, the 78th House District includes all of Harrison and Pendleton counties and a portion of Scott County.

"Our district changes somewhat because of last year's legislative redistricting, so in the months ahead I'm looking forward to meeting old friends and those who will be new to the 78th," Rep. McKee said. "I want everyone to know that my door is open, especially with the General Assembly now meeting. If anyone has any questions or concerns, I encourage them to let me know."

Tom McKee has represented the 78th house district since 1997. He serves as chairman of the House Agriculture and Small Business Committee and sits on the House Local Government, Tourism Development & Energy Committees and on the BR Sub Committee on General Government, Finance & Public Protection Committee. He and his wife Sue live on their farm in Cynthiana.

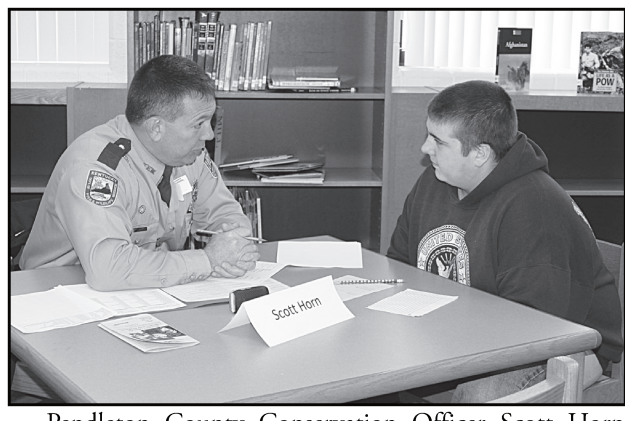
Pendleton County High School takes part in Operation Preparation project



Pendleton County Conservation Officer Scott Horn talks with Sean Neuspickel about career goals and opportunities.

During the dates of November 25-26, Pendleton County High School participated in Operation Preparation, a project that is supported by the joint effort of the Kentucky Department of Education and the Department of Workforce Development. The goal of Operation Preparation is to have community leaders and advisors come in to the schools to have one-on-one advising sessions with sophomores about career and college goals.

On the two days the program was implemented at the high school, the school brought in twenty-two leaders and advisers, ranging in the fields of business, nursing, military services, fine arts, mechanical engineering, and different technical programs, to meet with 189 sophomores. Each community volunteer worked with a select number of students each day. Every sophomore participant was allowed about thirty minutes to meet with their local community advisor. One-on-one meeting ranged from discussing individual learning plans (ILPs), student's grades, goal setting, realistic college expectations, and different colleges that students can attend.

Overall, Operation Preparation was very successful at Pendleton County High School. Survey results from students indicated they enjoyed working with and learning from the local community leaders and advisors that were able to volunteer. Many students stated that they learned a lot from their Operation Preparation experience and are better prepared to select courses in the spring to match their career and college goals.

The impact of West Virginia chemical spill to Kentucky drinking water continues to diminish

The lengthy plume of the chemical known as 4-MCHM made its way down the Ohio River with the leading edge in Louisville early Friday morning. Kentucky Department for Environmental Protection (DEP) officials say tests show the levels of the chemical are below the threshold established as a threat to public health by the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC).

"We have no indication that there have been, or will be, issues or risks to Kentucky residents," said DEP Commissioner R. Bruce Scott. "Our staff scientists continue to receive samples and test water from the Ohio River and the final treated drinking water. Based on the latest data, we expect levels below detection in the treated drinking water."

Last Wednesday, based on information from the CDC, the West Virginia Bureau for Public Health issued an advisory in West Virginia recommending that pregnant women use an alternative drinking water source, such as bottled water, "out of an abundance of caution" until the chemical is at a non-detectable level in the distribution system.

"While Kentucky has not received a similar recommendation from the CDC, we have evaluated the recommendations made to West Virginia and would like to make sure our citizens are aware of these precautions," Commissioner Scott said. "Since raw intake water in Kentucky is testing below the CDC-established threshold and since public water systems are taking additional steps to treat the water prior to use and consumption, we fully expect all finished drinking water to be safe."

The public water systems at Ashland, Russell, Maysville and Northern Kentucky Water District all closed their intake systems when the plume passed by earlier last week. Scott said the systems all used extra carbon treatment as an additional precaution on water withdrawn from the Ohio River since the plume passed by. Given those actions and water sample test results, he said there is no indication that the public has been exposed to levels of this chemical that would be of a health concern.

The agency will continue monitoring the path of the chemical plume and working with local water treatment facilities to continue assuring the public that they are receiving safe drinking water.

Kentucky Emergency Management has been monitoring the situation and has been coordinating daily meetings and conference calls with appropriate responding agencies and will continue until any perceived threat passes.

The chemical 4-methylcyclohexane methanol, known as 4-MCHM, was released last week into the Elk River, which flows into the Kanawha River at Charleston, W.Va. The Kanawha River flows into the Ohio River at Point Pleasant, W.Va. An estimated 300,000 residents in West Virginia were unable to use the water supply for a number of days.

Northern KY Gentiva named honors recipient

Gentiva's Northern Kentucky branch, has been named a 2013 HHCAHPS Honors recipient, a prestigious award recognizing those home health agencies that provide the best patient experience.

Established by Deyta, this prestigious annual honor recognizes the top 20 percent of agencies that continuously provide the highest level of satisfaction through their care as measured from the patient's point of view. HHCAHPS Honors acknowledges the highest performing agencies ranked by analyzing satisfaction measures covering both performance and improvement of care over a twelve-month period.

Deyta used the HHCAHPS survey results from over 1,200 eligible home health agencies contained in its HHCAHPS database with an evaluation period of April 2012 to March 2013. Two domains of performance were used in the calculations covering the nineteen questions that comprise the five publicly reported HHCAHPS measures found on Home Health Compare. Qualifications for eligibility included those HHAs that were compliant and partnered with Deyta for the evaluation period.

"We are excited to honor these outstanding home health agencies," said J. Kevin Porter, President and CEO. "Their tireless work has made a real difference in the lives of their patients, and we look forward to acknowledging their excellence."

Northern Kentucky's branch director, Julianne Brown, RN, credits the branch's amazing staff of caring nurses and therapists for this honor. Ms. Brown said, "Both the management and the clinical staff are highly tenured and put the patient and their families first. Gentiva is proud of their staff and its ability to serve the seniors of the Northern Kentucky counties of Pendleton, Grant, Kenton, Boone and Campbell."

Gentiva is the largest provider of home care services in the United States with branches all across the country. Gentiva is proud that their Northern Kentucky branch is the only home healthcare agency in this region to be so honored.

Richie Farmer receives two-year prison sentence

By Greg Kocher,
Lexington Herald-Leader

Former University of Kentucky basketball star Richie Farmer was sentenced Tuesday to 27 months in prison after pleading guilty last year to misusing state resources during his tenure as Kentucky's agriculture commissioner.

U.S. district Judge Gregory Van Tatenhove also ordered Farmer to pay $120,500 in restitution.

Farmer, 44, the guard for the 1991-92 UK team dubbed "The Unforgettables" for their gutsy play, pleaded guilty on September to two counts of misappropriating government resources while overseeing the Kentucky Department of Agriculture.

Farmer, a Republican, was agriculture commissioner from 2004 to 2011.

Wildcats post win over Beechwood

By Sam McClanahan, Reporter

The Wildcats basketball team posted its fifth victory of the season last Tuesday, January 14 with a home victory over the Beechwood Tigers. The Cats avenged a previous loss to Beechwood on December 28 at the Bracken County Tournament.

The Wildcats held Beechwood to 36 percent shooting in a 45-35 win. Tanner Pugh led the way with 15 points including a perfect six of six from the free throw line. Colton Pugh connected on seven of 14 shots to finish with 14 points.

The win marks the first time this season the Wildcats have put together back-to-back victories. Last Thursday, January 16th's game with Walton-Verona was cancelled due to inclement weather. Due to an early deadline, results of the January 18 contest with Ryle will be published in next week's issue.

Colton Pugh goes up for a two-point basket in the Wildcats/Beechwood match-up at PCHS on Tuesday, January 14.

The Cats host Highland at 7:30 p.m., January 21 and will travel to face Mason County on Friday evening, January 24 at the same scheduled time.

Ladycats drop game to district rival

The Ladycats traveled to Carlisle on Friday, January 10 to play 38th District Rival and favorite Nicholas County and found out that there is some work to do as district tournament draws near. They lost 67-30.

The Lady Jackets jumped out to a commanding lead combining a suffocating defense with an explosive offense with a 31-9 lead after the first quarter. They expanded it with a 24-9 second quarter for a 55-18 halftime lead.

The Ladycats dropped their fifth in a row in a 71-38 loss to Bourbon County on Monday. They host Campbell County this past Saturday but results were not available at the early press time because of the holiday.

They look to get back on the winning track Tuesday night, Jan. 21 in Maysville versus St. Patrick in the varsity only game scheduled for tip-off at 6 p.m. They finish the week against two of the best 10th Region teams, hosting Mason County on Thursday, Jan. 23 and traveling to Bishop Brossart on Saturday, Jan. 25.

Amberly Purdy cuts to the basket in the Ladycats loss to Bourbon County.

Safe and easy snow removal for winter

Keeping your property maintained during and after a snowfall is crucial. But handle snow and ice safely, as some of the risk involved comes from the removal process itself -- manually shoveling after a heavy snowfall can be dangerously strenuous.

Opting for a snowblower can help you avoid risk, as well as get the job done faster. If you have a larger area to clear, you'll especially want to consider motorizing your snow removal efforts.

To help ensure a safe winter for you, your family and your guests, here are some considerations to make when dealing with snow:

• Prevent: An ounce of prevention goes a long way. So if you're expecting a major snowfall, consider salting before the first flake falls.

• Don't wait: Keep up with the snowfall. Most of the time, it's easier and faster to clear six inches of snow twice than 12 inches of snow once.

• Use the Right Gear: Not all snowblowers are the same, so purchase a machine that's ideal for your property. Factors such as the type of surface and size of the space you're clearing, as well as how much and what type of snow you're expecting all should be considered.

• Make it Painless: Don't fight the wind. Whenever possible, point a snow blower's chute downwind so that the wind helps you blow the snow. It's usually easier to move up and down the length of a driveway, not perpendicular. In strong crosswinds, start on the upwind side and then work downwind.

• Think ahead: Throw snow as far into your yard as possible. Throwing snow only to the edge of a driveway or walkway will lead to high snow banks and make it more difficult to remove snow during the next snowstorm.

• Be safe: Read and understand your operator's manual before getting started. As you would with a lawn mower, inspect the area first and remove objects which might be picked up and thrown by the snowblower. Keep children and pets far away.

• Be Body Smart: Toiling away outdoors can be hard on your body, especially for older people. So give your heart and back regular breaks so you don't overdo it. Stay hydrated and don't overdress or you'll quickly be soaked from sweat.

• Shop smart: Ensure you get your money's worth by opting for a brand that offers money back in the event of a less snowy winter.

This winter, be ready to keep your home maintained, no matter what the weather blows your way.

BERLIN BAPTIST

We invite all to come and worship with our family of believers. Sunday services begin with Sunday school at 10 a.m., morning worship at 11 a.m. and Sunday night services are held at 7 p.m. message by Brother Dan Black.

This past Sunday was a wonderful time in the Lord at Berlin Baptist church, in the absence of our pastor Brother Dan, we were blessed with a message from Brother Shelby Meyer. Brother Shelby's message was taken from I John 1:8-10 and titled "Accepting Jesus will not make life perfect, but The Holy Spirit will be beside you for comfort and help in life struggles."

BUTLER BAPTIST

I Peter 4:12-19 tells us we should count our blessings even in times of trials. Everyone will face trials. They test us, teach us to depend on God and strengthen our patience. We can rejoice in our trials if we keep focused on Jesus. We will be rewarded when He returns. The Bible also tells us not to bring on trials by breaking the law and not following the commandments. We should never be ashamed of being a Christian and should always honor Him. When we are in the midst of trials it is easy to call upon Jesus. We are called to always keep our focus on Him, even when things are going good. If we keep doing good through our trials, we show we are living for Him. How do you handle times of trials? Join us as we worship and study God's word.

CHAPEL OF PRAISE

Praise the Lord, God is faithful. Pastor Ronny and Linda Hull and congregation would like to invite all to come and visit with us at The Chapel of Praise Assembly of God. We are located at 1562 Hwy. 159 North, Falmouth Ky. The church phone number is (859) 654-6006. Our Sunday school begins at 9:30 a.m., Sunday worship at 10:30 a.m., children's church at 11:20 a.m., Monday night prayer meeting at 7 p.m., and our Wednesday evening service begins at 7 p.m. Our Women's Ministry (WM's) meet on the first Tuesday of each month at 6:30 p.m.

In the month of January the WM's are collecting coats to give to those in need. Also we are blessing so many with our Love Basket Ministry.

Hope to see you at The Chapel. Bless the Lord, oh my soul: and all that is within me, bless His Holy Name. Psalms 103:1.

Have a blessed week.

FALMOUTH BAPTIST

Greetings from the Falmouth Baptist Church. We encourage you to stop by and worship with us at 4th and Maple.

The worship service began with the choir sharing a beautiful selection titled "This Is My Song." Bro. Cohen then delivered a wonderful message. The sermon encouraged us to take an honest look at the life we are leading before a holy and righteous God. Each of us needs to recognize, acknowledge and turn from the sin in our lives. We only have a limited time to influence the people we come in contact with. Every believer is a witness and every lost person is a chance! We rejoiced at the end of the service as we welcomed Karen Redmon into our church family.

There are many wonderful and exciting events coming up at church. 2014 is going to present many opportunities for us to be of service to others.

FALMOUTH CHRISTIAN

Brother Nathan's message was from I Kings 18:1-40.

The characteristic of the servant of the most high: Elijah was a man of God, and a true servant of God, by doing and saying only what God wanted him to do. Make God your Lord and Savior. Watch what you read and see on television. Let the words that come from your mouth be God's words. Don't use God's name in vain. People won't always like you, when you are a Christian. You aren't alone even if you feel like it. Be bold as Jesus was in the temple of God, and cast out all that was sold and bought in the temple. The devil is trying to win us over every second of every day. That is why you have to be on guard at all times. You stay in tune with God, and have a relationship with Him by reading your Bible. You can find anything you want to know about God in the Bible.

Pray for the sick and lost.

FIRST BAPTIST

Greetings from First Baptist Church! Our congregation was blessed with special music by Ray J. Vaske. Bro. Harry's message, "My Father's Business," was taken from Luke. Mary and Joseph were chosen by God to be Jesus' earthly parents. They raised Jesus as God wanted. We also need to raise our children to love and follow God and to love others. The best way to do this is to attend church regularly. We would love to have your family be a part of our church family. Sunday School starts at 10 a.m. and church begins at 11 a.m.

Pray this week for those lost, those facing illness, those who have lost loved ones, our military, our community and our country.

"God has got your back, when you give Him your heart."

MORGAN CHRISTIAN

"What are you looking for?" Jesus asked in John 1:38. Two of John the Baptist's disciples had been following Jesus around, when finally Jesus asks them, "What are you looking for?" They ask Jesus where He is staying, and Jesus tells them to "come see."

Those two disciples had heard an amazing testimony about Jesus. Someone they admired and respected, John the Baptist, had told them that God was working through Jesus. So they go find Jesus and see for themselves.

What are you looking for? The amazing thing about following Jesus is that He always meets us where we are, wanting to heal exactly what is broken. Christ is asking all of us, "What are you looking for?" And if we have a desire to know Him more, no matter what we're looking for, He always responds, "Come and see." Come and see us at Morgan if you want to know more.

Sunday school begins at 10 a.m and worship at 11 a.m.

MT. MORIAH

Bro. Breeden's sermon was about Christian sharing and giving "with a personal touch" on Sunday, January 12.

This theme was certainly carried out that evening at the Fire House Youth Association meeting in Butler. Approximately 90 people attended. Dr. and Mrs. Schafer, Dr. Kalfas, and his sons participated along with Bro. Breeden. They presented musical selections and Bro. Breeden did the sermon. Many Bibles were distributed and gladly received. This is a wonderful project for our county. We are indeed blessed to have these people serve as role models for our youth.

Our prayer list includes Marlena Brown, Joy Thomas, Kay Hammack, Mary Doan and Valerie Eckel. We extend sympathy to the families of Wink Meyers and Cathy Holloran.

Serving communion to shut-ins during the month of January will be Kay King and Mary Doan. Please contact them if you want them to visit with you.

Our church schedule includes Sunday school - 10 a.m.; worship service - 10:45 a.m.; choir rehearsal - 5 p.m., Thursday; and the Ladies Aid at noon on the third Thursday of each month at the church.

"Love your enemies and do good to those who hate you." Luke 6:27

NEW HOPE

One of the Ten Commandments is that murder is forbidden. People often become confused over what this commandment means. Murder is the intentional act of taking an innocent life. Accidental deaths are not considered to be a murder in the Bible. An innocent life is one that did not do anything deserving death. Even when one does deserve death, the Bible does not let anyone take that life. God established the government to execute justice. Therefore, if one is deserving of death, the government is the one commissioned by God to take that life. Innocent life includes the life in the womb. He or she has done nothing wrong that deserves death. Those that take the life of an innocent person in the womb has violated God's commandment about murder. That person can find forgiveness but they must be willing to repent of their sins.

NEW ZION

Come join us for worship and Christian fellowship. Sunday school begins at 10 a.m., morning worship at 11 a.m. and evening worship starts at 6:30 p.m. Bible study is at 7 p.m. on Wednesdays.

Upcoming opportunity: there will be a Valentine party given by Brother Rick and Tammy at 5 p.m. on February 9.

Aren't our kids awesome, if you were there on Youth Sunday I am sure you received a blessing!

Call unto me, and I will answer thee, and shew thee great and mighty things, which thou knowest not. Jeremiah 33:3

Please remember in prayer Hannah Perkins, Tina Cochran, David Hale, Sue Lucas, Phyllis King, Brenda Fields, Emily Paul, Danielle King Clabber, and the Flaugher, England, Meyers, Hall and Alender families. Also pray for our country and its leaders.

OAKLAND CHRISTIAN

Our hearts were saddened to hear of the death of a former minister at Oakland, Bro. Eudell Hall. He was very special and had a great influence upon many people's lives.

The message of the morning said "Where Do We Go From Here?" We are a part of God's plan and we are to love God and other people.

Our youth, 6th grade and up, is having a lock-in on January 24, starting at 8 p.m. with food, games, movies, and lots of fun.

"Family Movie Night" at 6 p.m., February 7.

Our sympathy goes to the loved ones of Bro. Eudell Hall, David Flaugher, Wink Myers, and Jean Cummins. Other prayer concerns are Tom Goshorn, Juanita King, LuAnn Holmes (throat), Marilyn Galloway (loss of 2 sisters), Greg and Valerie Ramsey, Teresa Barnard, Henry Rooney, Mark Groneck, Terry England, Debbie Veirs, cancer concerns, shut-ins, armed forces and our leaders.

SOUTHSIDE

Brother Kenny Allender, worship leader, led the congregation with the opening hymn, "O How He Loves You and Me," on January 12. Brother Clay Sullivan preached the sermon, "Commitment in 2014" from Romans 12:1-8. As we commit to Jesus Christ in 2014, let us encourage one another, contribute to the Church, stand up and lead, and demonstrate mercy. The memory verse for the week comes from I Corinthians 14:12, "Since you are eager to have spiritual gifts, try to excel in gifts that build up the church."

Be in prayer for all in one way or another. Come and worship with us this Sunday: 9 a.m. Sunday school and 10 a.m. worship service.

Have a great day!

TURNER RIDGE

"Proud of You" was the message for the children Sunday morning. Bro. Dale showed the kids a photo album and explained just as parents are proud of their children, God is proud of His. "...it came to pass Jesus also being baptized, and praying, the heaven was opened. And the Holy Ghost descended in a bodily shape like a dove upon him, and a voice came from heaven, which said, Thou art my beloved Son; in thee I am well pleased." Luke 3:21-22. Children should be obedient to their parents and to God.

Michaela Wright read scripture Isaiah 40:29-31 and the choir had special music. The message for the congregation "Obedient: To Wait" Acts 1:4-5 told how God demands obedience - we must be obedient and wait for God to prepare and equip us for what lay ahead. "I can do all things through Christ who strengthens me." Philippians 4:13.

Please join us in praying for the Youth and those that will be leading the "True Love Waits" study on February 7.

Winter and early spring pruning tips

As spring approaches, many homeowners begin to think about their yard's landscape. The winter months can be damaging to trees and shrubs. To ensure healthy spring plants, homeowners may want to prune the trees and shrubs around their home. But do not just prune for the sake of pruning, make sure you have a valid reason for pruning before you begin.

Pruning during the late winter months allows for the removal of damage caused by winter winds and precipitation. The wounds caused by pruning heal most quickly this time of year just as new growth is emerging on the plant.

Pruning also allows removal of diseased, crowded or hazardous branches. When pruning trees, the size of the tree does not need to be reduced too much in one season. Limit the pruning amount to one-fourth of the tree's volume. Start by thinning out branches by cutting them off close to the tree's trunk or a large limb.

Leave the base of the branch, known as the collar, intact. Cutting the collar will prevent the plant from growing over the wound caused from pruning. Pruning in this manner allows for a healthy tree that is more open to sunlight and air movement. If the branch is cut back only part way, there will likely be a crowded regrowth of new branches where the cut was made. Do not seal or paint the wounds resulting from pruning because this will only delay the tree's healing process.

With spring-flowering shrubs, rejuvenation pruning may be needed, and the time to prune is fast approaching. The best time to prune these plants is right after they have flowered. If the shrub is pruned before it blooms, the buds have been removed before their flowers were enjoyed. When pruning is done after blooming, the flowers will have been enjoyed, and the plant can recover, grow and produce more buds for flowers next spring.

Rejuvenation pruning removes one-third of the shrub's oldest growth. This pruning entails selecting the thickest, darkest and unhealthiest stems or branches and cutting them back. Stems should be cut back to soil level and branches to the point of intersection with the shrub's main trunk. This ensures that only the youngest, most productive wood (that which produces the most/best flowers) remains a part of the shrub. Shrubs that will bloom during the summer months can also be pruned during the early spring.

Pruning is not limited to a certain time of year. Homeowners can prune at any time if they notice branches and limbs that are damaged either from weather, disease or insects. Pruning is invigorating for the plants in a home landscape so one should not necessarily think of pruning as a means of size control. If you have a plant that has grown out-of-bounds, pruning may not be the answer – you may need to consider replacing the plant with one that will reach a smaller size at maturity.

The Kentucky Cooperative Extension Service's online data base, http://www.GardenData.org, can answer many of your pruning and other gardening and landscape questions. For more information, contact the Pendleton County Cooperative Extension Service.

Take the 10 percent challenge and buy more Ky. Proud foods in 2014

Resolutions are in fashion this time of year, and Agriculture Commissioner James Comer asks you to add one more resolution to your list: Make a commitment to support your local food economy and the Kentucky farm families that supply it by spending at least 10 percent of your food purchases this year on Kentucky Proud products.

"If every Kentucky family spent just 10 percent of its food dollars on Kentucky Proud items, that would generate more than $500 million to Kentucky farms and agriculture-related businesses," Commissioner Comer said. "That would have a tremendous impact on the economy in every corner of the Commonwealth, rural as well as urban. Just as important, Kentuckians would eat more fresh, nutritious food, which is an important part of a healthy lifestyle, and reduce their carbon footprint by reducing the miles their food travels."

An easy way to accomplish this goal is to join a Community Supported Agriculture (CSA) program near you. A CSA is a community of individuals who share both the bounty and the risk of a farm or group of farms. Typically, members of the CSA pay the farmer(s) in advance for weekly shares of the farm's harvest during the growing season.

Now is the best time of year to join a CSA because each one has a limited number of slots depending on each farm's production capacity. For a directory of CSAs, go to the Kentucky Department of Agriculture website atwww.kyagr.com/marketing/CSA.html.

Another easy way to buy Kentucky Proud is to visit your local farmers' market on a regular basis. For a listing of farmers' markets by county, go to www.kyagr.com/marketing/farmers-market-directory.aspx.

If you live in one of Kentucky's two largest cities, you can shop at Kentucky Proud member retailers such as Good Foods Market & Café in Lexington and Earth Fare and ValuMarket in Louisville. In mid-size Kentucky cities, you can find a wide array of Kentucky Proud products in stores such as Midtown Market in Paducah and Trunnell's Farm Market near Owensboro.

Grocery chains such as Kroger, Walmart, and Whole Foods also carry Kentucky Proud products.

Udderly Kentucky milk has been very successful in Walmarts in central and southern Kentucky. Louisville-area Walmarts are expected to carry the Kentucky Proud milk soon. Frozen yogurt retailer Orange Leaf uses 100% Udderly Kentucky milk in its yogurt in 11 of its 15 Kentucky stores. Udderly Kentucky milk is produced by more than 100 dairy farm families in south-central Kentucky and processed by Prairie Farms Dairy of Somerset.

"Are you up to the challenge?" Commissioner Comer asked. "Look for Kentucky Proud foods at your favorite grocery and restaurant. If you don't see them, tell the manager you want Kentucky Proud products."

Cooking up a cure for cabin fever

When it is too cold to play outside, it is time to get creative inside. A great way to engage your children is to help them cook something warm and cozy in the kitchen. Cooking is especially enjoyable for children because it requires using all five senses. They see the foods and prepare them with their own hands. They can hear foods popping or sizzling in the pan and smell the aromas. Finally, the best part is they get to taste their finished product.

Cooking provides new and challenging tasks that are not too difficult for a child to accomplish under the correct supervision. Cooking activities help build both fine and gross motor skills. Whisking, cutting or measuring with teaspoons and tablespoons gives practice to wrist and finger muscles. Stirring, pouring and ladling uses shoulder and arm muscles associated with gross motor skills. Parents should stay close and gently guide children in the process.

Food preparation also requires math and science skills. Children can practice simple math by learning about amounts and measurements and the concepts of more and less. They can hypothesize about what might happen next when a recipe gets changed. They also have a front row seat to watch changes as they occur.

A special learning benefit is to encourage tasting new and different foods. Children may be more inclined to try a greater variety of foods if they are actively involved in preparing it.

Children of almost any age can help in the kitchen. Sharp knives should not be used, but a plastic, serrated knife may be safe. Ovens and electric burners should never be used without adult supervision. Take time to talk with children about hot appliances such as when they should and should not be used, and how long they stay hot after being turned off. Cooking also is a good opportunity for children to practice safeguards such as health, safety and cleanliness.

Invite kids to join you in the kitchen even though it can get messy at times. Cooking is a great opportunity to bond and opens the door for discussion, creativity, and learning.

Amish Cook prepares venison summer sausage

The Amish Cook

By Lovina Eicher

Happy New Year to all you wonderful readers. I hope 2014 will be a great year for everyone!

Here in Michigan 2014 is bringing us frigid temperatures and lots of snow. Around eight inches of new snow was dumped on us New Year's Day. It made for some very pretty scenery. This morning our mercury on the thermometer dipped way down to minus 14 degrees. It only warmed up to 13 degrees all day.

On New Year's Eve, my husband Joe, our eight children and I, Timothy, Mose, and my sisters Verena and Susan, all went to sister Emma and Jacob's house for the evening. We all stayed the night there so their house seemed pretty lively with 21 people there. The children were excited to be able to stay up playing games until midnight and shout "Happy New Year" to the dark world outside. Four air mattresses were blown up to help make enough beds for everyone.

The next day we had a brunch which was a haystack breakfast. The haystack menu was biscuits (cut up in bite sized pieces), scrambled eggs, hash browns, tater tots, bacon (crumbled), ham (diced), onions (chopped), tomatoes (chopped), green peppers (chopped), hot peppers, salsa, and cheese sauce topped with sausage gravy. To make a breakfast haystack, everyone takes whatever they like and stacks it on top of each other in a pile on their plate. Haystack is one of my favorite breakfasts. Along with haystack there were all kinds of desserts such as chocolate chip cookies, oatmeal whoopie pies, peanut butter and cherry pies, butterscotch muffins, and a variety of Christmas candy. Also coffee, tea, orange juice, grape juice, and milk were served.

We had exchanged names for the gift exchange earlier in December. After brunch we all exchanged gifts which was exciting to see who had our name. I had sister Susan's name and sister Verena had my name.

The rest of the day was spent playing games, singing, and visiting. Everyone had snacks before leaving for home. It was a short, enjoyable day.

Our parents always had the family together for Christmas on New Year's Day. Everyone would gather early in the morning to have breakfast together. Dad and Mom would have wrapped gifts for everyone. Such an excitement for all the grandchildren! Now us siblings take turns having the family every year although most do not take it around Christmas anymore so that takes a lot of the fun away. Usually the gathering is held around springtime.

It is brother Albert's turn for the 2013 Christmas gathering but haven't heard of any plans so it is probably this summer sometime. It is nice for the four of us siblings that live here in Michigan to at least get together in memory of our dear parents on New Year's Day. A blessed 2014 to all!

Venison Summer Sausage

This week I will share the recipe Joe used to make our venison summer sausage.

Ingredients:

- 5 pounds ground venison
- 2 tablespoons Tender Quick
- 2 teaspoons mustard seed
- 2½ teaspoons garlic salt
- 2½ teaspoons black pepper
- 1 teaspoons liquid smoke
- 1 cup cold water

Directions:

Stir water, tender quick, mustard seed, garlic salt, black pepper, and liquid smoke in a large plastic bowl. Add venison and mix well. Stuff into bags and refrigerate for one to two days. Smoke in a smoker until internal temperature reaches 165°.

Writing your life story

Memories can be very powerful and remind us of life's ups and downs and times of growth, maturity and happiness. Do you remember what your first job was like? What was the make and model of your first car? How did you feel when you held your first child?

Your special memories may not only be important to you, but they could be important to family and friends as well. Many people wish they knew more about their family history. Writing your life story can help. The account of the series of events and experiences that make you the person you are today can be written, recorded or both.

Life stories include information about family and friends, the different locations and dwellings that you've called home, your education, work, hobbies, spirituality and how you were affected by important world events, such as the end of the Vietnam War or 9/11. Life stories should also include family medical history as this can provide useful information for both you and future generations. Knowing your family medical history can encourage preventative measures and even lead to early detection of certain health problems or disorders.

Documenting and sharing a life story has many mental and social benefits. The process contributes to overall mental healthiness, reinforces a sense of purpose and strengthens family and caregiver relationships. In addition, the legacy of a life story and family history influences future generations.

Writing a life story takes time and careful thought. The University of Kentucky Cooperative Extension publication FCS7-200, "Life Story: What Is It and How Do You Write It?" has a worksheet with sample questions that encourage you to think about significant events and memories. It is available online at http://www.ca.uky.edu/agc/pubs/fcs7/fcs7200/fcs7200.PDF or at your local extension office. Photographs, mementos and talking to others can also be helpful tools that jar memories. If you don't feel comfortable writing or recording your life story by yourself, ask a family member, friend or caregiver to help.

Comer and Grimes encourage taxpayers to donate to Farms to Food Banks Trust Fund

Commissioner of Agriculture James Comer, Secretary of State Alison Lundergan Grimes and several lawmakers went to the Capitol Rotunda Tuesday, January 14, rallying Kentucky taxpayers to "check the box" for hunger relief.

Starting this tax season, Kentucky state income taxpayers can donate a portion of their refund to the Farms to Food Banks Trust Fund. Administered by the Kentucky Department of Agriculture, the fund is intended to provide grants to nonprofits for the distribution of Kentucky-grown surplus agricultural commodities to low-income individuals. The fund was established in 2009 but has never received any funding from the Kentucky General Assembly.

"One of my top priorities as agriculture commissioner is to generate economic development through agriculture, and the Farms to Food Banks program helps us to accomplish that goal," said Commissioner of Agriculture James Comer. "At the same time, it enables less fortunate Kentuckians to serve healthful meals to their families."

One nonprofit that could benefit from the trust fund is the Kentucky Association of Food Banks. The KAFB's Farms to Food Banks program has distributed enough produce since 2011 to fill half a plate full of fruits and vegetables for 4.8 million meals. At the same time, the program has created an average of $950 in new income for more than 500 Kentucky farmers.

"One in six Kentuckians, including an astounding one in four children, doesn't always know where his or her next meal will come from," said Secretary of State Alison Lundergan Grimes. "This is an opportunity for Kentuckians to help ensure their most vulnerable neighbors have enough healthy food to eat."

In 2012, then-Representative Fred Nesler of Mayfield sponsored House Bill 419 to allow taxpayers to make voluntary contributions to the Farms to Food Banks Trust Fund. It takes effect for the first time this year.

"For every $1 donated, we can distribute enough healthy Kentucky-grown produce for five meals," said executive director of the Kentucky Association of Food Banks Tamara Sandberg.

Comer urged Kentuckians to check box 37 on their 2013 income tax returns to donate money to provide healthy food to hungry children and senior citizens while supporting farmers.

To raise awareness of the need among low-income Kentuckians and the opportunity to give to the trust fund, Governor Steve Beshear has proclaimed January as Farms to Food Banks Month in Kentucky.

NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that on January 17, 2014 Kentucky Utilities Company ("KU") filed an application with the Public Service Commission, Frankfort, Kentucky for approval of revisions in its Demand-Side-Management and Energy-Efficiency ("DSM/EE") program portfolio, as shown in KU's Adjustment Clause Demand-Side Management Cost Recovery Mechanism ("DSMCRM") tariff and the resulting changes in its DSMCRM charges. In its application, KU notified the KPSC that the revised DSMCRM tariff sheets are proposed to become effective on and after February 16, 2014; however, because KU anticipates the Commission will suspend the proposed changes in the DSMCRM tariff to conduct an investigation of the proposed changes, KU has asked the Commission to approve the proposed changes in its DSM/EE program portfolio and resulting increases in the charges under the DSMCRM mechanism in its DSMCRM tariff to be effective on January 1, 2015.

The proposed changes to the DSM/EE program portfolio, if approved, will result in an increase in the charges calculated under the DSMCRM mechanism. The increase charges for all affected electric rate classes are as follows:

Residential Service Rate RS, Volunteer Fire Department Service Rate VFD, and Low Emission Vehicle Service Rate LEV

Current Charge per kWh	Proposed Charge per kWh	Difference per kWh	% Change
$ 0.00349	$ 0.00378	+ $ 0.00029	+ 8.3%

General Service Rate GS

Current Charge per kWh	Proposed Charge per kWh	Difference per kWh	% Change
$ 0.00238	$ 0.00222	- $ 0.00016	- 6.7%

All Electric School Rate AES

Current Charge per kWh	Proposed Charge per kWh	Difference per kWh	% Change
$ 0.00088	$ 0.00101	+ $ 0.00013	+ 14.7%

Power Service Rate PS, Time-of-Day Secondary Service Rate TODS, and Time-of-Day Primary Service Rate TODP

Current Charge per kWh	Proposed Charge per kWh	Difference per kWh	% Change
$ 0.00067	$ 0.00069	+ $ 0.00002	+ 3.0%

KU projects that the monthly bill impact of the new DSM/EE programs and program enhancements will be an increase of $0.29 per month for a KU residential electric customer using 1,000 kWh per month.

This tariff filing may be examined at the office of Kentucky Utilities Company, One Quality Street, Lexington, Kentucky, or on Kentucky Utilities Company's website at www.lge-ku.com.

This tariff filing may also be examined at the Commission's offices located at 211 Sower Boulevard, Frankfort, Kentucky, Monday through Friday, 8:00 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., or through the Commission's website at http://psc.ky.gov.

Comments regarding this tariff filing may be submitted to the Public Service Commission through its website or by mail to Public Service Commission, Post Office Box 615, Frankfort, Kentucky 40602.

The proposed changes to the DSM/EE program portfolio and associated increase in the charges calculated under the DSMCRM mechanism contained in this notice are proposed by Kentucky Utilities Company. The Public Service Commission may order changes to KU's proposed DSM/EE program portfolio that may result in charges under the DSMCRM mechanism that differ from the proposed charges contained in this notice.

A person may submit a timely written request for intervention to the Public Service Commission, Post Office Box 615, Frankfort, Kentucky 40602, establishing the grounds for the request including the status and interest of the party. If the Commission does not receive a written request for intervention within thirty (30) days of the initial publication or mailing of the notice, the Commission may take final action on the tariff filing.
